

EXPORT A GEDCOM FILE

Personal Ancestral File allows you to export a GEDCOM file for use by other genealogy programs. This guide will help you export all or some individuals to a GEDCOM file. You will need to have your family history (PAF) file open.

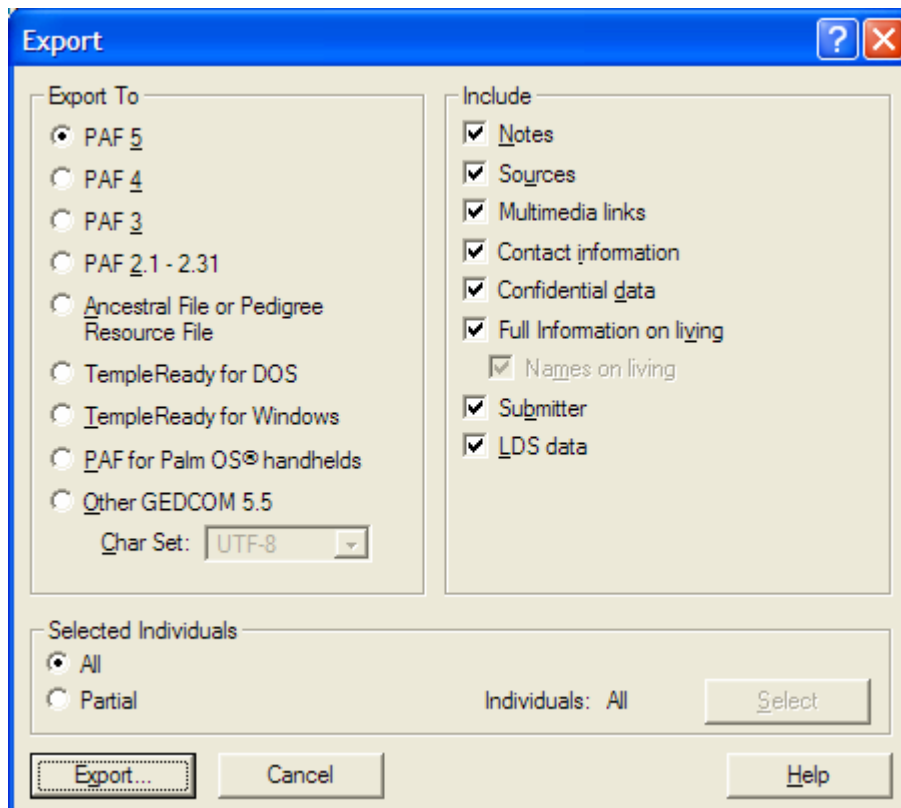

Steps to Export Data

Export GEDCOM

1. From the menu select “File” then “Export...”

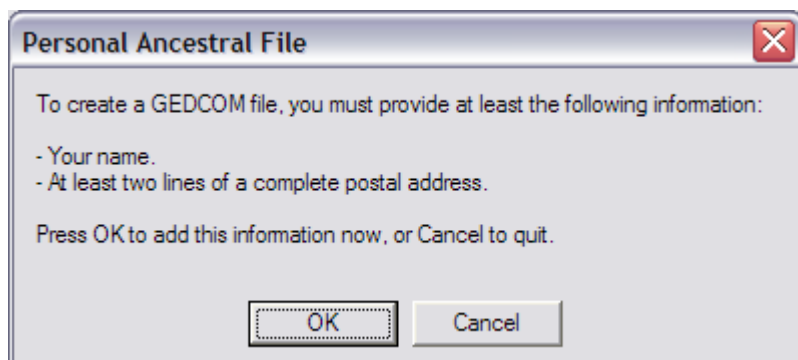

2. PAF displays the Export window

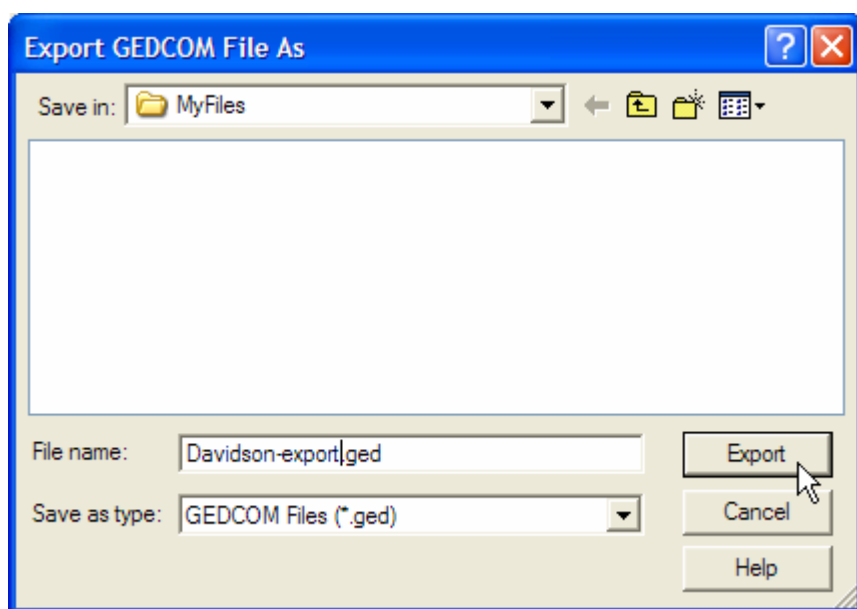

Export All Individuals

3. To export the entire PAF file, leave the defaults as they are selected (Export To: PAF 5, Include: all checked, Selected Individuals: All)

4. Click “Export...”
5. If you haven’t done so, PAF prompts you to enter information about yourself, the owner of the GEDCOM file. Click OK, enter your name and at least two lines of the address.

6. Enter a filename for the new GEDCOM file.

7. Click “Export”. PAF reports how many individuals and marriages were exported. Click OK
