

Brighton Ski Patrol - Patrol Days Requirements and Scheduling Policy

2021-2022

The purpose of this policy is to define the minimum number of days, night and Saturday swing shifts which are required of each full-time and part time volunteer Brighton patroller to fulfill the Patrol's obligation to Brighton Ski Resort.

The number of patrol shifts required will vary each ski season because of planned and actual resort opening and closing dates, ski conditions, including lift openings or closings, and the staff required for holidays. The number of shifts required of each patroller may also change during the ski season as the number of active and available full-time patrollers may change, and Brighton Resort may request additional volunteer patroller staffing.

The requirement for days, nights, or swing shifts is met by scheduling to patrol on the Patrol web site and patrolling on the scheduled shift. This policy recognizes that shift obligations may be met during the ski season by providing Avalanche, OEC, Ski & Toboggan and new candidate and transfer training to the Brighton Patrol.

The ski season and patrol shift requirements are per trimester for day shifts and per ski season for night and swing shifts. The trimesters are specified at the beginning of each ski season from the anticipated opening date to the projected closing date of the season. The beginning or ending date of the season can change depending on snow and mountain conditions.

Patrol Web Site Shift Scheduling

No later than the date of the annual OEC refresher, the Patrol Directors will determine the initial patrol day shift requirements for the ski season and the dates by which patrollers are asked to schedule those requirements per trimester. If the condition of the mountain permits an earlier resort opening the trimester periods may shift to accommodate the resort.

To provide a fair opportunity to all patrollers to both schedule and patrol the required day shifts each trimester, patrollers are asked to schedule only three of the required shifts within the first 72 hours after a trimester's scheduling is open. Thereafter, patrollers may schedule the remaining day-shift requirements.

The directors will monitor specific requirements that may affect a trimester in providing even and consistent staffing.

Shift Substitutions

Patrollers are asked to request substitutes and to substitute for a patroller by using the patrol web site. Under circumstances where it is not possible to use the web site, both patrollers are asked to notify a director as soon as possible so that credit for having patrolled the shift is correctly assigned.

Patrol Training

The Brighton Patrol recognizes that during the ski season, Avalanche, OEC, Ski & Toboggan, and new candidate and transfer training requires training staff to be present on the hill on scheduled days from the morning meeting until day sweeps are down and clear. These patrollers will be credited with one-day shift for each day of instruction. Training staff members must sign up on the web calendar and sign in on the day of training at the resort. The Brighton Patrol encourages its members to serve in official positions with the NSP or Intermountain Division, such as division trainers and national or division board members.

Patrol Day-Shift Requirement-full time

Each patroller is required to patrol a minimum of (5) day shifts the first trimester, (6) day shifts the second trimester and (5) day shifts the third trimester.

Patrol Day-Shift Requirement-part time

Each part time patroller is required to patrol a minimum of (3) day shifts per trimester in each of the three trimesters, or the number of day shifts designated by the Patrol Directors. Each part time patroller is required to be a member of a night team and fulfill the required nights within the team. The part time patroller position is limited to a specific number of patrollers determined by the directors on a season-by-season basis.

Failure to Meet Requirements

Throughout the ski season and in January, the Directors will review whether the Patrol's scheduling and patrol requirements are functioning and meeting Brighton Resort's needs. The Directors' review is for the purpose of keeping the Patrol and Brighton Resort informed of any need to adjust scheduling and patrolling requirements.

The review is also intended as an opportunity for the Directors to address any circumstances or events that may affect a patroller's opportunity to schedule shifts or availability to patrol. Patrollers are encouraged at any time to notify the Directors of any reason that may limit their availability.

The Directors' review is also for the purpose of recognizing and accommodating to the extent possible personal, family, and employment circumstances and events that may affect any patroller.

If the Directors identify a patroller who has not or is not likely to meet the Patrol's requirements, the Directors will meet with the patroller. The purpose of the meeting is for the Directors and the patroller to discuss the patroller's circumstances and to reach an agreement that will allow the patroller to meet the requirements.

During the following trimester the patroller will forfeit their benefit privileges. If the patroller does not meet the required guidelines as agreed, the patroller will be placed on suspension. The patroller will be given another trimester without benefits to meet the agreed upon guidelines. If the patroller cannot meet the agreement the patroller will be asked to leave the patrol.
